BEER
A SPRING TONIC.

With the coming of the Spring days, those days that exhilarate, yet produce that tired feeling, Nature needs an assistant to encourage a man of to-day to his best efforts. Physicians advise against medicines. What then? The celebrated is the best known Spring tonic, brewed from pure malt, under the most hygienic process known to modern science.

There is food and tonic in LION BEER. Invalids and convalescents find it invaluable for building up exhausted strength. As a nourishing food for mothers, there is nothing to equal it.

Ask your doctor. We will abide by his decision.

The Question for Voters to Consider.

What Democrats foretold has come to pass and the Republic is coming perilously near to a monarchy or a dictatorship. Who would have believed it possible when Lincoln was nominated, that the Republican party would in a few years tamely submit to the Chief Magistrate, after two terms of office, decreeing who his successor should be, allow him to prescribe the platform, edit the speeches delivered, and even dictate the nomination of the Vice President? Can anyone deny that President has ordered all these doings of the Republican party, by just touching the button at the White House?

Allowing that President Roosevelt is a patriot, who can be trusted to manage the politics and policies of the United States how will the country fare when some less able and honest man undertakes to follow his example in years to come? If Mr. Taft is elected can he be trusted to dictate his successor? It will be a very dangerous proceeding to trust him, judging from what he has done to aid himself in obtaining his ambition.

When the campaign opened for the nomination of candidates, as far as Secretary Taft was concerned, he having but little personal strength, the crucial test was whether with all the power of the Administration, he could secure the delegates from Ohio. Boss Cox, whom Secretary Taft had denounced as corrupt, would control the delegates from Cincinnati and some other counties, and prevent them from supporting Taft, and these held the balance of power. They were naturally allied and favorable to Senator Foraker.

What was promised or paid Boss Cox to go back on Senator Foraker may perhaps never be known, but whatever the influence was it can hardly have been honest influence. Secretary Taft, and his sponsor, the President, must know what brought about this conversion of Boss Cox. Senator Foraker might perhaps tell what happened, if he would. It is said to have been the dictation of principal state offices by the corrupt Boss Cox, which many Republican newspapers are now denouncing.

The question for voters to consider is whether they are willing to perpetuate the Roosevelt dynasty by electing Taft after his unholy alliance with Boss Cox, and then again elect whomsoever he may decide should succeed him. The Taft policies, whatever they are, will be just as dear to his heart as "my policies" are to President Roosevelt, and whether good or bad the effort to perpetuate them can be made just as successful through the exceeding power of whoever is President of the United States. The precedent of the Administration dictating its successor has been set, and ambition will force it to be followed if Taft is elected. There perhaps will never again be such a strong combination of Republican leaders attempting to defeat the Administration program of perpetuating itself. But all these favorite sons have dwindled into nothing, and get a few complimentary votes without any prospect for a future for any of them. They were as clay in the hands of the White House potter. They will have to take their medicine and shout for their master or the Republican elephant will be ruthlessly driven over them. The Republican leaders can only blame themselves. They have been persistently giving power to the President, and following this Hamiltonian policy of centralization have defeated their own plans and purposes.

There is said to have been 83 millionaires who were delegates to the Republican National Convention, and those Republicans who are dissatisfied with the candidates nominated, or the platform adopted can hardly wonder that their party favors Wall Street and the trusts, when those representing "the interests" were so numerous in that gathering. "Some of those 'malefactors of great wealth' are no doubt 'practical men' like Harriman, who was a delegate to the Republican Convention of 1904, but was perhaps for obvious reasons, unwilling to represent his party this year. As one 'practical man' drops out, there would seem to be a dozen drop in to the Republican frame of practical politics. Their boodle, if not their presence, will no doubt be badly needed before the campaign is ended. It is not difficult to decide whether those citizens of great wealth who were delegates to the Republican Convention are interested in Republican politics for their pockets sake, or whether they are just patriots like the office-holders and expectant office-holders that made up the balance of that interesting gathering, but a shrewd guess can be made that they were not there for their health. The candidates nominated, and the platform adopted would indicate that the millionaires were the guiding stars and their interests were carefully provided for.

The Republican managers will no doubt have an enormous campaign fund, for all "the interests" will be forced to contribute, by reason of the pressure that can be brought to bear on them, by the Administration, through the information obtained by the investigation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Department of Commerce and Labor, of their infraction of the railroad rate law and the anti-trust law. With all this evidence hanging over their heads what can they do but "come down" when the Republican managers call on them for boodle?

Republican Brotherly Love.

Every meeting of the Kentucky delegation at the Republican National Convention at Chicago was a veritable love feast. Senator Bradley and Marshall Bullitt passed each other without speaking. Governor Willson and Dick Ernst greeted each other with cold, stiff nods. When the time came to select a member of the National Republican Committee from Kentucky, Dick Ernst, of Covington, and Frank Fisher, of Paducah, were placed in nomination. Ernst voted for himself and made the result a tie. The next morning Ernst withdrew his name and threw his strength to Judge Burnam, of Richmond, whose brother-in-law was present and voting for Fisher. Judge Burnam, by voting for himself and getting his brother-in-law's vote, then won. Of course this was the very essence of bitterness to Senator Bradley who claims that Judge Burnam only got to Chicago by the basest sort of betrayal of Bradley in the Louisville convention.

Hot Weather Record.

Though all records for hot weather for 1908 were broken Monday, Tuesday's temperature exceeded even that of the day before, the thermometer at the Lexington weather bureau recording 94 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, while the highest temperature Monday was 92 degrees.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alternative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhoea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in effecting a cure.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar to women, and is especially indicated to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle, giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines. The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.
